

Amick Byram

Amick Byram has a rich history in the world of entertainment both in Hollywood and New York. As a commercial theater producer, Amick directed five world premieres of new musicals with individual show budgets to $8 million and has produced regionally and in NYC. He is the Founding Producing Director of the prestigious American Coast Theater Company, and is a guest lecturer at leading colleges and universities presenting master classes in the arts and seminars on The Business of the Business.

Amick has produced major events for Fortune 500 companies both in the U.S. and internationally, was the Executive Producer and Director of the 60th Anniversary Celebration of the Nation of Israel in Los Angeles CA, and was a producer of the television and radio advertising campaign “You’ll Never be the Same” for the Israel Ministry of Tourism.

An accomplished singer and actor, he sang the role of Moses in the movie, The Prince of Egypt, starred on Broadway, and has been a series regular and guest star on several television shows. He has two Grammy Award nominations and has a performance that received an Emmy Award nomination.

As president of Oodles World, Amick brings a depth of experience, skills, and knowledge to Oodles World and the new division of the company, Oodles Entertainment. With a degree in business, Amick finds himself on both the creative and the business side being able to seamlessly think, work, create and problem solve in both spheres. His is proud of the mission of Oodles World to produce products and resources that entertain and at the same time reinforce the Word of God in the hearts of kids and families.

Amick’s finest accomplishment is his marriage to Cassie, the CEO of his life and the co-producer of his two sons, Jonathan and Benjamin.
